The American Kennel Club (AKC) recognizes 197 breeds of dogs. The Fédération Cynologique Internationale (FCI) recognizes about 400 breeds. But most of us can only recognize about 50 breeds when we see them. A few of our patients would like to change that. We are very lucky at Suffield Veterinary Hospital to work with many caring, careful and thoughtful dog breeders. These are people that research the health and temperament of their dogs before considering allowing them to be bred. They then raise their puppies with strict attention to their nutrition, hygiene and socialization, so that the new owners get a happy, healthy, trainable family member. We can't emphasize enough the benefit of this early socialization to both the puppy and the people that love it. Among the many, many unusual breeds of dogs we care for, these nine kind owners have sent us photos of their pets. Your challenge? Match the pet with the breed! Answers:

1. Shiloh Shepherd; 2. Petit Basset Griffon; endeen (PBGV); 3. Galgo Español; 4. Barbet; 5. German Pinscher; 6. Boerboel; 7. Entlebucher Mountain Dog; 8. Lagotto Romagnolo; 9. Spanish Water Dog
